PreSchool-Grade 2-This book once again demonstrates Gibbons's ability to present factual information in an appealing format for very young audiences. Here, she takes readers through the life cycle of frogs, beginning with the eggs or spawn and describing the stages from tadpole to adulthood. Clear, full-color illustrations present their anatomy, daily activities, and the different types. Scientific terms are presented phonetically. A double-page spread explains the difference between a frog and a toad, and the last page provides a few odd and interesting facts about these amphibians, such as "An African bullfrog can be as large as a football." An attractive offering.Helen Rosenberg, Chicago Public Library, ILCopyright 1993 Reed Business Information, Inc. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Ages 5-8. Bright green borders frame watery scenes where frog spawn changes to embryos, tadpoles, young frogs, and finally, mature amphibians. Gibbons' distinctive, labeled drawings identify the features described in the text, and her subjects float, swim, jump, and dive in colorful, lifelike illustrations. In age-appropriate language, she describes the frogs' life cycles, feeding habits, enemies, and habitats. She even explains the differences between a frog and a toad. This attractive book will appeal to prereaders, beginning readers, and the adults who read to those groups.

Gail Gibbons books are very informative. My 2nd grade class used this book when we learned about the life cycle of frogs. I would buy it again!

Love this book! Item was shipped in a timely manner and book arrived in great condition. This is such a cute story. With lots of adorable illustrations. A great rainy day read. I can't wait to read it to my nephew and neice. I read it first and lived it! He he he Gail Gibbons is my favorite children's author! The story is simple and detailed, the illustrations are beautiful!

Excellent addition to my Non-Fiction collection of Gail Gibbons books. I am very satisfied with the product and the seller.

Great

I love love love all her books!!! So interesting, informative and colorful. My boys are 4&5 and really like this

It was good.

I love all of her books!
