Uprising At Dawn (Between Two Flags Series #5)

Synopsis

Friendship is put to the ultimate test.... Gideon Tugwell looks forward to the future when a job opening in the Confederate capital puts his dream of becoming a writer closer than ever. But then he overhears plans for a slave uprising threatening the lives of his friends Nat and Emily, and he knows he must stay home to help. But will there still be time to travel to the job interview? Emily Lodge is making the best of her situationstranded at Briarstone Plantation in Virginia, unable to cross the Civil War battlefields to her home in Illinois. She hates slavery and vows to help her friend Nat. But when Gideon warns her about the uprising, the tables have turned; now she desperately needs Nat's help. Nat Turner, a secretly educated slave, has been returned to captivity at Briarstone. To make matters worse, he is about to be sold to a brutal slave trader. As time runs out and the uprising draws near, Nat must make a decision: avenge his anger, or help his friends.

"A shoe with a 3.5 inch cork sole made a writer out of me." says bestselling author Lee Roddy. "I was born sick and handicapped. Poor health prevented me from leading a normal boy's life for ten years. During my confinement, I became an avid reader. Fortunately, surgeries corrected my problems. . . but I remained a reader for life!" At the young age of twenty two, Lee decided to seriously pursue his writing career. He packed his things and moved to Hollywood, California. It wasn't long before he was hired with a Los Angeles advertising agency writing copy for major corporations. It wasn't quite the type of writing he had in mind. . .but it was a start! Before long, Lee had moved on in his writing career. As a staff writer for NBC, ABC, and CBS, he wrote radio network dramas. One of the highlights of his career was the sale of his novel The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams to NBC. It later became a prime- time television series for the network, and was viewed by 28 million viewers weekly. Since 1974, Lee has written countless books. Most significantly, he wrote the Jesus film for Campus Crusade for Christ, which is now in more than three hundred languages and is viewed worldwide. He has had five of his books made into major motion pictures, and has been on the New York Times bestseller list on several occasions. AN AMERICAN ADVENTURE and BETWEEN TWO FLAGS are two popular series for young adults that present exciting stories set in historic America. These days Lee focuses on his life with his wife, children, grandchildren, his work, and his church. He is a highly sought after public speaker and prolific writer. size :

Uprising At Dawn is the story of a dangerous discovery by Gideon as he moves through the swamp in search of a hog and overhears three slaves plotting an uprising at nearby Briarstone Plantation. Shocked by their plan to burn local white farms, Gideon rushes to inform his good friend Emily who is staying at the endangered plantation. Together they begin a desperate mission to uncover the identities of the slaves with the help of Nat, a young Briarstone slave who works inside the mansion. Uprising At Dawn is a unique and exceptionally well written novel for young readers and part of the Bethany House Publishers "Between Two Flags" series featuring compelling stories of faith and history.
